Song story: I awoke from a dream where a person with mental limitations - what used to be called "retarded" – was really scared. People all around who knew him, who had helped him before, were trying to comfort him--- But he was big, and kept pushing them away. I'd never seen him before he had no reason to trust me. But I walked over to this teenager, put my arms around him, and started singing this song. *THIS song, which had never before been written. He instantly both calmed down and nestled his head in my shoulder.

Awakening:

Though tired, I got up and for the next 75 minutes, wrote out entire music sheet, working out the melody & chords in a key that's easy for most people to sing, instead of the low lto version I sang to this dreamed of man that the LORD brought to me in a vision.
